

Much Ado...

SJC Players put new spin on Shakespeare's classic

SUBMITTED PHOTO/FR. TIM MCFARLAND

Dogberry, played by Alan Austin, and The Watch restrain Conrad, played by Mike Sosnowski during St. Joseph's College performance of "Much Ado About Nothing." Curtains opened on the play play last night with performances continuing on Friday and Saturday.

By SHERRI MORRISON

smorrison@rensselaerpublican.com

RENSSELAER — St. Joseph's College theatre director John Rahe, has directed his share of plays and musicals over the years. Rahe has been at St. Joe's for 25 years, and has spent over 30 years directing.

This weekend marks another production put on by the St. Joe's College Columbian Players as they present a new spin on Shakespeare's "Much Ado About Nothing."

SUBMITTED PHOTO/FR. TIM MCFARLAND

See PLAY, Pg. A10

The cast and crew of "Much Ado About Nothing."

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 2, 2012

Play

FROM A-1

SUBMITTED PHOTO/FR, TIM MCFARLAND

Hero, played by Shannon Kiley, and Leonato, Joseph Karpiak, await the return of Don Pedro and his troops.